Les fleurs sont
très grandes et très belles, mais
elles sont très
sensibles au froid
et ne peuvent
être cultivées
dans nos climats.
On en a vu
dans les jardins
des Indes.

La comtesse de Roslyn a mis beaucoup de soins pour rassembler, à son domaine de Bryant-Bouse, une collection extrêmement étendue de différentes espèces et des plus belles variétés de rhododendron, qu'elle a placées sous la direction judicieuse de son jardinier, M. Blair, dans cette collection, ces plantes proviennent merveilleusement bien, et fleurissent d'une manière plus brillante que dans aucun autre jardin d'Angleterre.

LES MOUCHES.

Rien de plus incommode que ces insectes parasites, qui remplissent nos maisons en été, déposent des vers dans nos substances alimentaires et salissent nos meubles de leurs excréments.

La mouche à viande est une des plus grandes espèces de nos climats. On prend que son allouchement peut communiquer aux hommes la maladie douloureuse et mortelle connue sous le nom de charbon. C'est vainement que l'on chercherait des moyens pour la détruire ; comme sa larve vit dans les chairs corrompues, peu de personnes auraient le courage d'aller
